What is the value of the Outdoor Education Center experience?

The Winthrop University Outdoor Education Center (OEC) has been developing teams and groups since 1982 and has served more than 40,000 people.

Considered by many professionals to be a teaching tool ahead of its time, the OEC offers specialized group learning experiences in an effective non-traditional setting. Teamwork is essential; participants complete each session knowing more about themselves, each other, and group problem-solving.

Each workshop is individually planned around the needs and goals of the team or group. Depending on the program's design, sessions can last anywhere from two hours to a full day!

BENEFITS of an OEC Experience:

- Group/Team Cooperation
- Leadership Skill Development
- Decision-Making Skills
- Problem-Solving
- Positive Risk Taking
- Strengthened Relationships
- Effective Communication
- Trust and Self-Confidence

Outdoor Education Center STAFF:

Facilitators are selected on the basis of individual group needs and interests. All are trained, tested, and experienced in the physical, psychological, logistical, technical and safety dimensions of the OEC.
