A Message from the President

Dear Graduate:

Congratulations on earning a Winthrop University degree! I commend you on this outstanding achievement.

You have mastered the challenges of academic rigor, civic engagement, global awareness, personal responsibility, and career development. You have met the demanding standards of your respective academic program. You have forged relationships with mentors in the classroom and in the community, and you have, undoubtedly, made friends for life. And I hope you have had a little fun along the way.

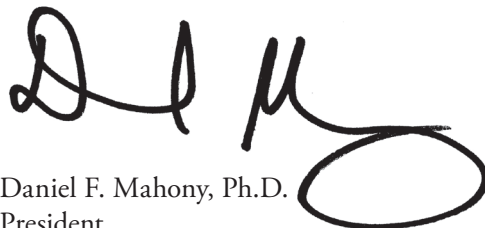

Through all of those experiences, you also have gained the confidence that comes with giving your best to achieve your dreams. That confidence will serve you well as you rise in your chosen career, pursue advanced studies, enter or re-enter the workforce, or simply explore a new direction for your life. I strongly believe you will stand out as a leader in your community and your profession as a result of your experiences at this university.

Think of Winthrop as you set your future goals. Hold fast to your intellectual curiosity, your passion for achievement, and your sense of responsibility for self and for others. You honed those attributes as you worked and studied here; and, over time, you will continue to value this important association with your Alma Mater.

We are proud to call you one of our own and hope that you continue to rely on us throughout your life. We also hope you realize the ample opportunities to connect with your fellow alumni and to give back to Winthrop. Make the most of them. We need you as we plan for the university's future.

I am proud to celebrate this day of achievement with you. All who have had the good fortune to be a part of your experience here join me in wishing you the very best. We congratulate you for your determination and accomplishments.

With warm regards,

Daniel F. Mahony, Ph.D.

Awards

President's Award for Academic Excellence

This award is the highest academic award Winthrop University presents to a student. It is awarded to the student(s) with the highest grade point average in the graduating class.

Outstanding Junior Professor

Stephanie Lawson

Dr. Stephanie J. Lawson is the 2019 Outstanding Junior Professor. Her selection indicates a reputation for inspired teaching, research and creative excellence, and dedication to the welfare of students.

An assistant professor in the Department of Management and Marketing, Dr. Lawson joined the Winthrop faculty in 2013. She brought to campus professional experience in marketing management and research in the healthcare, transportation, and retail industries.

Since her arrival, she has welcomed new course teaching assignments in undergraduate classes and has done an excellent job in reimagining existing courses. Dr. Lawson has shown a commitment to quality online instruction delivery by taking a flexible approach to reformulating courses to reflect the benefits of online education.

She also developed a capstone course for M.B.A.-marketing students so they could complete marketing plans for several area businesses including two owned by Winthrop alumni.

Dr. Lawson initiated the "Marketing Me" project where she challenged students to imagine their professional and personal lives five years from now. The focus on the future has helped students develop a road map to help achieve their goals.

Students comment on Dr. Lawson's enthusiasm when teaching, and they note she is a caring and dedicated teacher who understands the obstacles that occasionally arise in students' personal lives that may interfere with their academics.

Dr. Lawson has developed an outstanding portfolio of intellectual achievements and has collaborated with her students and peers on research which relates to collaborative consumption, services, sustainability or Native American marketing issues.

Recently, Dr. Lawson has dedicated her time to enhancing the College of Business Administration's curriculum by chairing a comprehensive review of its offerings.

She holds a B.A. in Communication, M.B.A. and Ph.D. from Florida State University.

Distinguished Professor

Cara Peters

Dr. Cara Peters is the 2019 Distinguished Professor. The designation is the highest honor the Winthrop community can bestow on a faculty member.

She has excelled at teaching, at significant research and general service to the university and is held in high standing among professional colleagues.

A marketing faculty member, Dr. Peters started work at Winthrop in 2004 as an assistant professor after having taught at the University of Georgia and the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. She was promoted to associate professor in 2010 and to professor in 2015. She has served on the College of Business Administration's leadership team as assistant and associate dean for professional development.

An effective teacher, Dr. Peters teaches a wide variety of courses including the principles of marketing, advertising, e-commerce, marketing management, qualitative market research, personal selling and global marketing.

An active and prolific scholar, Dr. Peters has had her research findings published in 80 publications, two book chapters and in 24 conference proceedings and has built a record of high quality publications in top journals. A firm believer in helping the community through her research, Dr.

Peters and a colleague studied the economic development efforts of the nearby Catawba Indian Nation and have worked with students and other faculty members to share their findings. Several of Dr. Peters' students have gotten internships due to her use of Google Adwords in her classes. In addition, her research on Black Friday and NASCAR fans also have garnered positive press for the college and for Winthrop.

Dr. Peters has won two other Winthrop faculty awards: the 2010 LaRoche Graduate Faculty Award and the 2009 Kinard Award for teaching. She holds a Ph.D. and M.B.A. in business administration from the University of Nebraska and a bachelor's degree in management from Luther College.

Awards

Honorary Degree

Gary Simrill

Gary Simrill '91 has served as the S.C. Representative for District 46 since 1993. Beginning in 2017, the Rock Hill businessman moved into a key leadership role with the S.C. House with his election as Majority Leader.

He also holds the title of second vice chair for the powerful Ways and Means Committee and is the chair of a Ways and Means Education Subcommittee.

Simrill, who is president of Carolina Motorsports, has several issues he is passionate about for South Carolina. His longtime support of higher education in general and Winthrop specifically has positioned him as a strong supporter for education in the Palmetto state. The recurring and non-recurring funding Simrill has helped secure for Winthrop has had a profound and enduring impact on this institution.

South Carolina's roads, infrastructure, veterans' issues, public safety and the opioid epidemic are other areas where Simrill has shown great interest. Known as a state leader who works to build consensus, Simrill is a man of integrity and solid character.

A recipient of the South Carolina Public Servant of the Year Award in 2017, Simrill is listed in Who's Who in American Politics and in Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

Honorary Degree

Mary Spann Richardson

Winthrop rejoices in the selfless contributions of its alumnae for their family members and community. The late Mary Spann Richardson LeNoir was one such individual who stood out for her quest in making the world a better place.

A member of the Class of 1942, Mary Spann Richardson LeNoir was forced to terminate her education due to the depression and lack of financial means.

After losing her first husband in 1950, she took a job as secretary to the hospital Commander at Shaw Air Force Base and stayed for three decades. She later remarried and along with her second husband, William LeNoir, Mary raised three children who all graduated from college, two of which earned graduate degrees.

All of her children were recognized for their outstanding performance and contributions in the county 4-H and Grange programs. The two boys also received Eagle Scout awards, the highest achievement or rank attainable in the Boy Scouts of America. Much of the children's success is credited to the constant persistence and unwavering support by their mother, who was a Summerton, South Carolina native.

Mary's family has made sure her legacy remains intact at Winthrop. At the annual Faculty, Staff and Retirees Awards Ceremony each spring, the Mary Spann Richardson Award is given to a faculty or staff member who has provided exceptional service to Winthrop. The award was established by siblings Rowland Alston, Bill LeNoir and Vickie LeNoir Saunders '79 '81 in memory of their mother.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia worn in college and university ceremonies today have their origins in the Middle Ages. Monks and students wore them to keep warm in the medieval castles and halls in which they studied. From these practical beginnings, the traditional caps, gowns, and hoods have come to symbolize scholarly achievement.

Winthrop is authorized to grant the first two of the following three generally recognized degrees—the bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral. The bachelor’s degree, the baccalaureate, takes its name directly from the medieval practice of “bachelors” wearing a garland of bayberries. Their gowns have a long pleated front, which may be worn either open or closed.

The master’s degree was equivalent to a license to teach and sometimes was followed by the phrase “Licentia Docendi.” The gowns for master’s degree candidates are similar to those of the bachelor’s, but a hood is added, bearing the colors of the institution conferring the degree. The doctor’s degree was originally a title of respect and recognition of great learning. Today, the doctorate indicates advanced study and independent research in a specialized field of learning. The gowns feature a broad, velvet panel down the front and three velvet bars on the full, round sleeves.

Members of the governing body of a college or university are entitled to wear doctoral gowns under the rules of protocol. Winthrop’s Board of Trustees and chief marshal wear robes designed specifically for the university.

Mortarboards or caps worn with baccalaureate and master’s gowns generally have black tassels. The tassel of the doctoral cap is usually made of gold bullion. The caps and gowns worn today by Winthrop students are environmentally friendly. The fabric is made from renewable, managed forests and the zippers from 100% recycled polymer.

Hoods

Hood colors were assigned to academic disciplines and standardized for the first time in the United States in the late 19th century. The colors chosen had traditional meanings and were determined by discipline. Green was selected for medicine because it is the color of healing herbs. Red was the traditional color of the church and was assigned to theology. Golden yellow signifies the wealth of knowledge which research has produced and therefore was given to science. Revisions were made to the code several times in the 20th century by the American Council on Education.

All hoods specify the type of discipline studied and the awarding institution. The following list explains hoods worn by graduate degree candidates at Winthrop University.

Important Note

The university commencement ceremony is a significant celebration recognizing years of study. As a reflection of the nature of the ceremony, please refrain from loud expressions of pleasure for individual graduates. Such expressions detract from the recognition due the next graduate in line. Photographs may be taken during the ceremony, but photographers are asked to remain in their seats to ensure that aisles and stairways are clear. The audience is requested to stand and remain at their places during both processions. As a courtesy to those around you and to our graduating students, please turn off all cellular devices during the ceremony.

Winthrop University

History

Winthrop University has been an educational leader in South Carolina for more than 125 years. In 1886, David Bancroft Johnson, a dedicated and gifted superintendent of schools, successfully petitioned Boston philanthropist Robert C. Winthrop and the Peabody Fund for seed money to form a school whose mission would be the education of women as teachers. As the “Winthrop Training School,” Johnson’s fledgling institution opened its doors to 21 students in Columbia, S.C., using a borrowed, one-room building. Because of its important role, Winthrop soon received state assistance and moved to its permanent Rock Hill home in 1895.

Over time, Winthrop became one of the premier women’s colleges in the region and expanded its mission to become a comprehensive institution offering degrees in a growing variety of disciplines. Responding to students’ increasing pursuit of higher education, the college reached other important milestones by integrating in 1964 and becoming coeducational in 1974. Winthrop assumed university designation in 1992 and has achieved national recognition in pursuit of its goal to be one of the finest comprehensive universities in the country.

cum

Motto

Winthrop’s motto, “Veritas cum Libertate,” or “Truth with Liberty,” was chosen by a faculty committee at the request of Winthrop President David Bancroft Johnson in 1899.

Seal and Chain of Office

The committee formed by President Johnson to suggest a school motto also designed the university seal. The illustration includes the motto as well as portions of the State of South Carolina seal. One image is dominated by a tall Palmetto tree, which represents the battle fought on June 28, 1776, between defenders of the unfinished fort on Sullivan’s Island, South Carolina, and the British Fleet. Banded together on the Palmetto with the motto “Quis separabit?” (“Who Will Separate [Us]?”), are 12 spears that represent the first 12 states of the Union. The other image of the seal depicts a woman walking along a shore littered with weapons. The woman, symbolizing Hope, grasps a branch of laurel as the sun rises behind her. Below her image is the word “SPES,” or “Hope.” On May 14, 1900, the faculty voted unanimously to accept the design still in use as the Winthrop seal.

The Chain of Office is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the university. Only the university president may wear it, and while wearing it, speaks for the whole body of the institution. Winthrop’s Chain of Office is made of bronze and features the university seal.

Coat of Arms

The Winthrop University Coat of Arms, adopted in 1980, incorporates a shield and helm, and the University motto, “Veritas cum Libertate,” which originally appeared on Winthrop’s seal. A diagonal blue line through the shield represents the blue uniforms that were worn at Winthrop until the 1950s. The garnet and gold represent traditional school colors.

The Mace

The first maces were weapon-like staffs used in ancient Rome to honor heroes and nobility. Maces were later used in the courts of England as symbols of authority. Today, maces are associated with the American judicial and legislative systems, as well as with colleges and universities. The Winthrop mace was designed, produced and engraved by Alfred Ward, art and design professor emeritus. It is made of silver with detailing of 22K gold overlay. The stem is crafted from an African hardwood.

Gonfalon

The gonfalon, a flag that hangs from a crosspiece or frame, originated in the medieval republics of Italy as an ensign of state or office. Gonfalons have been adopted in many universities around the world as college or institutional insignias.

The four gonfalons displayed represent the four academic colleges of Winthrop University: the College of Business Administration, the Richard W. Riley College of Education, the College of Visual and Performing Arts, and the College of Arts and Sciences. The garnet, navy and gold are the university’s colors. Purple, green and blue complement the school’s colors.

Ring

The official Winthrop University ring symbolizes pride and commitment and is a lasting memento of the wearer’s Winthrop experience. The ring’s design includes the crest portion of the university’s seal and is framed at the top by the institution’s name and its founding year at the bottom. Inside the ring, Winthrop’s motto, “Veritas cum Libertate,” is inscribed. It is customary for the ring to be turned with the crest facing outward at the conclusion of the Commencement ceremony.

Alumni Association

Dr. David D. McDonald '01

As President of the Winthrop Alumni Association, it is my honor to be among the first to congratulate you as both a Winthrop graduate and a new member of our Alumni Association. I know that you take great pride in the accomplishment you have earned today—a Winthrop University degree.

I know that you have worked hard to achieve this incredible goal and with the degree you have earned, you will go far. Use the knowledge, skills, and experiences at Winthrop to have an impact on your lifelong learning opportunities. Continue to dedicate yourself to acquiring knowledge and opportunity.

As you leave Winthrop as a student, your role changes as you become a representative of our university in your professional life, in the communities you serve, and in all that you achieve. Your dedication, achievement, and concern for our world are excellent measures of the knowledge you have obtained during your time here. Please dedicate yourself to continuing the mission of our university into the world and continue to bring honor and distinction to yourselves and to our beloved Winthrop University.

I am thrilled to welcome you as a new member of our Alumni Association. Ours is an organization that is diverse, supportive, and interested in the success of all alumni. I encourage you to be an active member, support Winthrop, and help continue the Winthrop experience for others.

As you transition to a new part of your life, I encourage you to continue to share your Winthrop experience through all of the events your life will bring, encourage others to support Winthrop, and continue to enjoy success. Continue to be a proud Eagle bold and strong!

Sincerely,
