a fractured sanctum

An Original Performance Conceived by Norman Burt & Everett Johnson

Christopher Lasch once stated, "A family is a haven in a heartless world." A Fractured Sanctum allows us to peer into the lives of a common family that was never truly common. A frequently absent father, an anxious mother and emotionally, sexually confused children form a household struggling to stay together. Unusual as they may be, a sense of familiarity within each scene connects the audience with the most fundamental emotions that every family experiences.
