Natalie Bradley is a senior dance major here at Winthrop.

Natalie began dancing at the age of three and opened a studio of her own in Gaffney, South Carolina. She co-owned and operated Palmetto Starz Dance Company for three years before deciding to complete her degree solely as a student, which enabled her to take advantage of more performance opportunities. In the spring of 2016, she toured with Emily Morgan and the piece "we go together to what end," attended this year's ACDA, and choreographed for Winthrop's Student Choreography Showcase. She then went on this summer to dance in Charlotte, LA, and Chicago for various classes, intensives, and performances. Natalie will graduate in December and plans to pursue a performance career following her graduation.

Hannah Potter is a senior dance major from Irmo, South Carolina. In addition to being involved in dance productions, she is a theatre minor, mostly concentrating on tech and design. She is very excited for the opportunity to both perform and choreograph in this semester's Senior Choreography Showcase.

Megan Long is a native of Rutherfordton, North Carolina. She has been dancing for 18 years and began her pre-professional training at Winthrop University in the fall of 2013. Performances during her time at Winthrop University include Winthrop Dance Theatre, Winthrop Repertory Theatre, Senior Choreography Showcase, Junior Choreography Showcase, Charlotte Dance Festival, and American College Dance Association. She has worked with Jennifer Archibald in the ArchCore40 program, as well as The Syncopated Ladies in the Syncopated Ladies Bootcamp. Choreography experience at Winthrop includes the Student Choreography Showcase and Senior Choreography Showcase. "Final Solution" and "None of Us Are Free Until All of Us Are Free" are the two modern pieces she has created during her undergraduate career. She choreographs tap and contemporary for Little Broadway Studio in Forest City, North Carolina. Megan will graduate in May 2017 with a B.A. in dance and psychology from Winthrop University. She hopes to perform in the commercial dance industry and continue choreographing for studios around the country.

Choreographers

Iris Myers is a senior biology and dance double major at Winthrop University. She is originally from Florence/Timmonsville, South Carolina where she is prominent in her community as both a dancer and dance instructor. During her time at Winthrop, Iris has performed in Winthrop Dance Theatre, Senior Choreography Showcase 2015 and been a member of Winthrop Dance Repertory Theatre.

Carly Thompson is a senior dance education major from Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. She has been dancing for 18 years, receiving her first training at Elite Dance Centre. She has performed in Student Choreography Showcases, Winthrop Dance Repertory Theatre, the ChristmasVille RockHettes, and at ACDA.

Jennifer Kight is a senior dance major minoring in photography from Coward, South Carolina. She has choreographed a piece for Senior Showcase as well as performed in Winthrop Dance Theatre this semester. She is very proud of her time at Winthrop and would like to thank all of the dance faculty for all they've ever done to enrich her and her peers' lives.

La'Raine Turlington graduated from Clover High School in 2013. She is currently a dance performance major with a theatre minor. After graduation, La'Raine would like to choreograph in the Charlotte area.
