III. General Education

Dr. Ray Dockery reported that the Gen. Ed. committee met to discuss the Office of Assessment report regarding the SACS requirement that students have computer competency. The committee had distributed a survey to each academic area to determine whether or not computer competency was addressed in their programs. Some did not include any such proficiency expectation, others did to some extent, and others included much. Overall the committee was pleased with the findings. There was agreement that "competency" needed to be defined.

The Council suggested that the General Education Committee and the SACS steering committee work together on incorporating some computer competency in the new general education model.

Ray indicated that the General Education Task Force meets every two weeks. They are putting together comments reflecting on the Asheville General Education Conference attended by several members of the Task Force. They also are working on a new general education model that the Committee will present to Faculty Conference on October 15.
